Morinville Juveniles Take Wetaskiwin To Advance In Provincial Play-Offs

More than one hundred enthusiastic Morinville fans journeyed to Wetaskiwin to witness the smooth working Morinville Lions Juveniles trim Wetaskiwin 5-4 in the second of a two-game total goal series in the Northern Alberta Juvenile "B" Playdowns, on Wednesday last.

The fans were treated to a very high calibre of hockey dished out by a fine group of sportsmen, despite the comfortable 11-3 lead—the game being so fast that the referees had difficulty in following the pace. By the display put on by the Morinville boys in Wetaskiwin it would appear that Morinville Juveniles should go a long way in their quest of the provincial trophy, that they are out to win.

The score at the end of the first period was tied at 1-1, with Labonte and Hodson getting the lone tallies for their teams. The second period was high lighted by some of the fastest hockey that may be found around these parts; and featured a fine display of back-checking and goaltending that held off Wetaskiwin to great advantage. Voss, assisted by Morissette, made it 2-1 for Morinville at the end of the allotted time.

While Morissette was in the center at the 7:58 mark of the third stanza, Martineau picked up two fast goals, a feat not too often achieved when a team is at a disadvantage; Jovall and Ronnie Patry got the assist and Jovall also picked up the other goal. Wildie scored twice and L. Hodson scored twice for the Wetaskiwin team.

Commission Points Out Relationship Industrial and Residential Areas

At the February meeting of the Edmonton District Planning Commission the director submitted his proposals for readjustment of the Industrial Zone in the S.E. Sector of the Metropolitan Area.

At a basic study of the problem by the Commission at a Special Meeting held on December 29th, 1952, it was pointed out that there must be a proper relationship between Industrial and Residential Areas. In other words it is important to see that there is not more land set aside for Industry than the Residential Area can take care of in the housing of the workers. It was then shown that in the present Outline General Plan of the area, there is nearly a balance in this respect and that it might be hazardous to add further Industrial land without corresponding compensation in Residential Area.

The Director therefore now proposed certain areas, which are now in the B-zone Greenbelt, and which by terrain, size and parcel and proximity to railway, road and other services are ripe for development, be exchanged for certain areas now zoned to Industry and not so suitable at present for the purpose. In this latter category he had selected some 751 acres of land which have been underlined and where there might be danger of subsidence. He observed that present Industrial development had, in the main, avoided this area, which would indicate that there is at present some fear of subsidence in the minds of those seeking industrial sites.

The lands selected by him are contiguous to either the C.P.R.-Whitford line or the projected C.N.R. branch from the South City limits to the Camrose line. They are suitable for Industry and would not conflict with the proposed routing of the Ring Road.

These proposals are important and received the earnest consideration and approval of the meeting. After a full discussion it was agreed that it would be desirable to have a close examination of the problem made by the organizations vitally affected before any action is taken by the Commission. The Director therefore was asked to arrange for a meeting with representatives of the City of Edmonton, Municipal District of Strathcona, Canadian Pacific Railway, C.N. Railway and the Department of Highways in order to explain in detail the nature and effect of his proposals and obtain their reactions.

The chairman informed the meeting that an experienced planning technician, to replace Mr. Plottin, had been engaged and that it was hoped he would be able to commence work within a week or two.

The Director requested direction from the Commission concerning possible applications for industrial sites in the area set aside for that use in the N.W. Sector of the Metropolitan area outside the city limits. The meeting agreed that decision on such applications must necessarily be held over until a plan is drawn up for the area. The Director expects this to be accomplished in the near future.

Morinville Takes Wetaskiwin 4-3

In the first game of a two-game total goal series of the Northern Alberta Juvenile "B" playdowns, Morinville handily trimmed Wetaskiwin by a score of 11-3, played in Morinville last Sunday.

Bob Patry opened the scoring with a fast slap shot 48 seconds after the face-off, and brother Ronnie followed suit at about the three-minute mark. Nineteen seconds after this achievement Ronnie pulled a repeat performance in smooth working play with Jovall and Martineau. Jovall and Labonte each found the goal to make the score 5-0 at the end of the frame.

In the second period Ronnie Patry, Labonte and Voss clicked and backed for the visitors made it 8-1 going into the third period. Voss figured twice and Bob Patry once to wind up Morinville's scoring spree, and Hodgson clicked twice for the visitors, ending the game at 11-3 in favor of the home town boys.

While the score was rather one-sided the boys played a fine game, and it was no "pushover" for Morinville, they had to work hard all the way.

J. W. Hosford Heads Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association

SALISBURY—Mr. J. W. Hosford, a South Edmonton farmer, was elected president of the Canadian Holstein Friesian Association at the recent annual meeting held in Toronto.

J. W. HOSFORD

Honored in 1951 with the Master Farm Award, Mr. Hosford has been a Master Holstein Breeder for many years. Since 1936 the new president has been an Alberta director of the National Association.

In 1949 Mr. Hosford was elected as fourth vice-president and each succeeding year brought him closer to his present position.

Said Mr. Hosford in an interview, "The Holstein Friesian Association of Canada is the largest and wealthiest Breed Association in the British Empire."

"Inasmuch that three Albertans now head three Canadian Breed organizations, proves that Alberta is once more to the fore," he commented, and cited Mr. Balhorn of Wetaskiwin is head of the Canadian Aberdeen Angus Association and W. J. Edgar of Innisfail heads the Canadian Hereford Association.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

It is with pleasure as Director of Civil Defence for Morinville M.D. No. 91 that I submit this report on the progress of Civil Defence over the year 1952.

In March, 1952, under the advice of the Minister of Municipal Affairs, Mr. Gerhart, the need for a Civil Defence Organization was deemed a necessity in the Municipality. At that time three people were qualified to act in case of Natural Disaster or War-made Disaster, but at the present time, we are happy to report that this situation has greatly been changed.

As of to date I submit a strength report for the Municipality of Morinville No. 91.

Income Taxes in Britain

Here's something for Canadian taxpayers to ponder over as they settle down to figure how much tax they have to pay on last year's income. And the date is nearer than you think!

The Inland Revenue Commission in Great Britain recently reported that only sixty persons in England had net incomes of more than $16,800, after paying income taxes last year. The report showed that many Englishmen earned more than this, though taxes took practically all of their income above a certain level.

It is interesting to note that the sixty who earned more than $16,800, earned a total of $27,720,000. After the income taxes were paid on this amount, it was reduced to something over $1,000,000. Some of the big money-earners paid at a rate of $2.75 taxes out of every $2.80 earned. Thus out of almost $3.00, they were allowed a nickel profit.

Here in Canada we do not take the attitude that big incomes are necessarily evil, if a fair rate of tax assessment has been paid. But in Britain large incomes are just about impossible, and the end result is that gradually all the common people will be reduced to the same low standard of living. It is different, however, for members of the Royal family and relatives who continue to live in tax-free splendor.

Something like a Britisher's lenient view of Royalty has been taken of our Governor-General who receives nearly $150,000 per year, most of it tax-free. But this relatively small sum is but a mere fraction of what it would cost to maintain a King or Queen in Ottawa, on British standards.

Red Outpost on the Moon?

Things must be even tougher in Soviet Russia than many of us have suspected. As the latest means of taking the Russians' minds off their present miseries, their Red slavemasters are telling them that Russian space ships will plant the red flag on the moon within the next 50 years.

Along with this promise go other predictions about Russian-made satellites between the earth and the moon, with Soviet scientists studying the universe from these space stations and keeping sharp eyes on everything that cooks down here.

Even so, all this is not a mere pipe dream. According to numerous scientists, the space station project is entirely feasible. Once a space station was set up, something over 1,000 miles off the earth, and moving around us like a miniature moon, it could be used as a take-off point for space ships zeroed in on the original moon.

After the moon was explored, and perhaps equipped with one or more settlements generating their own atmosphere under vast shells, journeys to other planets would be possible. Or so a lot of respected present-day scientists insist.

Dr. Wernher von Braun, noted German rocket expert who worked on the V-2 missile in World War II and now works in this country, says the first space station would cost around $4,000,000,000 and some 10 years of preparation and labor. Any time he can get the four billion bucks, we gather, he's willing to proceed.

The nation that first installs a space station as an artificial earth satellite will have many advantages in addition to scientific prestige. There are military men who think such a space outpost could be used practically to rule the world, as a platform from which atomic or hydrogen missiles could be whacked into any desired point on earth, with no defense possible.

Maybe so; maybe not. But inter-planetary travel is at least not the Jules Verne or H. G. Wells fantasy that it was 50 years ago. We'd better encourage research on this fascinating subject in every way we can. It may just conceivably be the richest single field of scientific exploration now opening to mankind.

Of Many Things

By AMBROSE HILLS

My son, Bill, has reached the awkward age—the age when he knows more than I do about a lot of things, including how to run the country, abolish slums, stop wars, and all the rest of it. I should have known that the awkward age had come upon him when I noticed the following symptoms:

He thinks millionaires are crooks—but he firmly intends to be a millionaire when he grows up.

He detests slums—but he and his pals make a slum out of our front yard by dumping their belongings helter-skelter all over the place. He will trip over his sister's tricycle a dozen times before he'll put it away. He will toss gum wrappers, chocolate bar wrappers and other assorted scraps of paper right on the front walk for his mother to sweep up.

Somewhere he has picked up the notion that wars are started by the munitions makers for profit; but I looked out the window the other day to see him give the Bronx raspberry to the neighbor's boy, and offer to punch his nose.

The share-and-share-alike idea has taken hold of his imagination, but in a very broad way. It does not include sharing his dibs, or parting with half his chocolate bars or chewing gum.

He has heard enough to make him pretty disgusted with our way of life—he's sold instead on a planned economy. He doesn't know what it means but he is sure that it would stop waste and increase efficiency.

They talk a lot about it at school, it seems, and take a pretty dim view of corporations and cartels and monopolies and the like. Bill thinks it is high time that the government took over everything and stopped all the silly advertising and made things really hum. "Just think, Dad," he says "how cheap they could sell shoes if there was only one brand and they didn't have to be advertised!"

So I asked him, "What kind of a chocolate bar would you like me to get you? I'm going down to the store."

Without hesitation he named his favorite brand; and added, without a blush, "and could you fetch me some comics? Any kind—if I have them already I'll use them for traders."

It is kind of nice to have a son at the awkward age, though. At least he's only starting in where some so-called adults left off. He'll grow out of it; they grew into it. Give Bill a few more years to joyfully fix the world with words. All too soon he'll find that it won't work. Let him have his fling now. One day, no doubt, he'll be in the same spot as I am now—trying to explain things to a son at the awkward age. That will put him in his place.

New Synthetic Rubber

An official of one of the major tire and rubber companies said recently a new type of synthetic rubber, which would outwear both natural rubber and other synthetics by many years, would probably be developed in the near future. "There is every reason to believe these problems can be brought to a practical solution," P. W. Litchfield predicted, in speaking of the problems yet to be solved before manufacture of the new synthetic rubber.

The new rubber surpasses present types in toughness and resistance to abrasion and is expected to outwear an automobile when used on automobile tire treads. It is said to be similar to the German synthetic rubber, Vulcollan.

Problems which are said to stand in the way of production of the new synthetic rubber are said to be the finding of a cheaper way to produce the raw material needed, improved processing, and further improvement in resilience and adhesive qualities. It is obvious that the new synthetic rubber will be of major importance to the country in a national emergency, in addition to being an aid to the traveling salesman, or other driving citizen, who must buy a new set of tires for his automobile every year.

DON'T KNOCK—CO-OPERATE.

A group of uneasy country folk have been heard running down the committee leaders of their local Amusement Club. The conversation sounded somewhat like this:

"I wish we had more entertainment. I get so bored staying at home. We have to go miles to see a movie and one gets tired of that. Why can't we organize some sports or a dramatic club or some activities other communities have? Even the church operates at a loss. Wouldn't an amateur hour once a month be different. Can't we have more dances?"

Now! What is wrong with the people? Likely it's lack of co-operation, perhaps management. Why can't folks organize sewing groups, children's amateur clubs, an evening dramatic club, softball team, fashion shows, masquerades, novelty dances, treasure hunts, sleighing parties, wiener roasts, Sunday School and even bachelor "What's Your Beef" clubs?

Come on, ladies' and gents. How about it? Can't you put a little spice into the modern humdrum?

District Pastor Replies To City Minister On Merits Of New Revised Bible Version

LAMONT — In a letter addressed to the editor of the Lamont Journal, Rev. Ernest Nix has replied to Rev. G. Hutchinson, of 11526 88 Street on the subject of the new revised version of the Bible. Mr. Nix writes as follows:

I rather hesitate to so much as reply since controversy, when misunderstood, may seem like mere petty bickering. The man in the street is apt to say, "As long as the churches and men of religion can't agree among themselves why should I listen to any of them?" Nevertheless, your correspondent needs to be set right about a few simple facts.

Although he states that he had two copies of the King James Version "conformable to the issue of 1611" open before him, there is nothing in his letter to indicate that he has ever examined, much less read, a copy of the new "Revised Standard Version" which he so much detests. May I suggest that in all fairness he should obtain one and critically compare it with the King James Version? It is hardly fair to condemn merely by hearsay; such testimony would not be accepted even by a court of law. He might find himself agreeably surprised by the new version.

The chief reason why a new translation was necessary at this time was simply that there was no good translation of God's Word available to the people in the language we speak today. Nobody today disputes the place that the King James translation holds and has held through the past 341 years. Its words and phrases are indelibly inscribed in our language and literature, both sacred and secular. No one can claim to be educated in any sense of the word who does not know this most influential, most important book in the English language. But the question is, can the common man today easily read and understand it? Because the King James translation was itself based on older versions (such as Tyndale's) which went before it, a greater knowledge of English is needed to read it correctly than is needed to read, shall we say, the plays of Shakespeare, which were written at the same time. Words change their meaning, others grow obsolete with the passing of time. "Conversation" once meant "conduct," and "charity" was once a simple word for Christian love. There are approximately 300 similar instances of Elizabethan words appearing in the K.J. version which are now confusing to the average reader. A few changes also appear because translators working today have many more ancient manuscripts available to them, than had the King James translators working nearly 350 years ago. However, the amazing thing to me is, that all in all, the new Version has remarkably few changes in it. The King James Version has been followed in its matchless beauty, except where it was found to be wrong.

Mr. Hutchinson refers to the celebrated passage in Isaiah 7:14, where the new Version reads "a young woman" instead of "a virgin" as in the King James. Does he know that "virgin" is also plainly printed in a foot-note as an equally acceptable reading? The Hebrew word translated here is "almah," which may be rendered either way. The question was, which translation was nearer the original Hebrew? Apparently there was little choice; either means "pure, chaste." If he will further examine St. Matthew 1:23 and Luke 1:27, he will find the familiar "virgin" in both cases; no doubt exists that that

There's Write Way And A Wrong Way

LINCOLN, Nebr. — A handwriting expert says that if couples had their handwriting analyzed before marriage "nine out of 10 divorces would be prevented."

Ralph B. Stevenson of Lincoln said the analysis of handwriting "shows a person's true character. If a couple understood each other's problems, a marriage could often be saved."

"People write with their brains — not just their hands," he contended.

is the correct translation of the Greek "parthenos" which occurs here. In other words, the translators of today are not engaged in a dire plot to put across their own "private interpretation" or any particular "modernist" or "fundamentalist" view; their job has been simply to produce, in the language we speak today, a fair, plain, accurate, and if possible graceful translation of what the original writers wrote in Greek or Hebrew, I say they have succeeded magnificently. There has been no attempt made whatever to interfere with anyone's belief in the doctrine of the Virgin Birth or any other doctrine.

Mr. Hutchinson would find the translators' Preface to the Revised Standard Version interesting and instructive. It sets out what they have been attempting to do. Far from being a "new Bible," listen to what Dean Weigle (Dean emeritus of Yale University School of Divinity, and chairman of the revision committee) has to say: "We haven't been changing the Bible. With the aid of the oldest manuscripts yet known and with the new knowledge of Greek and Hebrew vocabularies, we have really been recovering it. In that sense, this new Bible is really the oldest."

Yours sincerely,
REV. ERNEST NIX,
Lamont, Alberta.

I went to visit my neighbor. His wife was preparing to bake a cake and was getting the required materials. I was asked to have a chair. Without looking I sat down in a chair on which the wife had placed two eggs for her cake. Of course, I crushed them completely. Was I ever embarrassed!

W. M. GRYSIUK,
Two Hills, Alberta.

Starting a new job, I was introduced to the office staff, consisting of two other girls and one young man. One girl invited me to lunch and during it she asked me, "Well how do you like your co-workers?" "Oh," I replied, "they're very nice, especially that handsome young man. I wouldn't mind going out with him!" "Oh, but I would," she said icily, "he's my fiancee!"

CANADIAN NAVY SEES SEVEN SEAS

PEACE-TIME EXERCISES, WAR-TIME OPERATIONS
TAKE NAVY TO ALL QUARTERS OF THE GLOBE

stow wire rope as their ship leaves Gibraltar during a summer training cruise; a sailor from the Magnificent views "the glory that was Greece" during a visit to Athens. Third row: Communications branch Wrens at their typewriters—nearly 200 Wrens are on full-time service with the Navy; a Canadian destroyer's gun blasts at a North Korean target; cheerful sailors on board HMCS Ontario on a visit to Seattle; crew members of HMCS Athabaskan, on their way to Korea, enjoy a brief respite in Hawaii. Bottom row: Three typical warships of the Royal Canadian Navy, HMCS Athabaskan (Tribal class destroyer); HMCS Quebec (8,500-ton training cruiser) and HMCS Swansea (frigate). — National Defence Photo.

No Great Price Decline Expected, Says Federal Agriculture Depart. Official

Says cattle prices may rise after March 1st —should not rush to sell cattle now!

EDMONTON — J. H. Tremblay, Senior Technical Officer for Western Canada of the Canadian Department of Agriculture has issued a warning to farmers who have cattle to sell before March 1st. On that date the U.S. embargo is to be lifted on the importation of Canadian cattle and Mr. Tremblay says that farmers may get better prices for live cattle by waiting until then before making deliveries to packing houses.

At least, Mr. Tremblay says there is no reason to fear a great drop in price when the U.S. embargo is lifted. In a statement issued last week, he gives the Department's view of the situation as it is likely to affect the Canadian cattlemen. Following is the complete statement:

It would appear that a systematic campaign is underway to depress the cattle market and cause concern amongst the producers, in an effort to induce them to ship more cattle at the most inappropriate time and force the prices down. There is certainly no justification whatsoever for such action at the present time.

According to latest quotations available, the price of Good to Choice steers and yearlings, are up to $24.50 at St. Paul, Minneapolis, and $25.50, Chicago. By deducting normal charges per hundred weight from Edmonton to St. Paul for transportation—$1.26, (b) Duty $1.50, (c) Shrinkage 75c, (d) Feed in transit 25c and handling charges 50c, or a total of $4.26, there still remains a net price of $20.24 per hundred weight at St. Paul and $21.24 at Chicago. And this does not take into account the top steers which are bringing as high as $29.00 per cwt. at Chicago.

At the present time, certain Edmonton packers are offering $18.50 for very top steers through their local buying stations, which is about two cents a pound less than what they would bring on the U.S. market.

It is difficult to say what the prices will be on March 1 when the embargo is lifted, but there is every reason to believe that there will be very little difference with the present prices, and the feeder has everything to gain by holding back the shipping of his fat stock until after that date. It should also be kept in mind that the best guarantee to the seller is still to ship through the public stockyards.

Bible By Balloon

The International Council of Christian Churches (fundamentalist rival of the World Council of Churches) decided on an all-out effort to destroy the prophets of atheism behind the Iron Curtain. Their vehicle: balloons. Small balloons will be set adrift in Europe by council workers, to be carried into Sovietland on the west winds. A waterproof envelope will be attached to each balloon, containing a portion of the Scriptures or an entire Bible. Declared the council: "The greatest single weapon in the hands of freedom-loving people in their struggle with expanding Communism is the Bible."

Popular English hymns frequently prove disconcerting after the translator has done his worst. A missionary once set a Hindu student to render "Rock of Ages" into the native dialect. The literal meaning of the Hindu's rendering was "Very old stone, split for my benefit. Let me absent myself under one of your fragments."

News Oddities

Light-Fingered

HOUSTON, TEX. — Stealing accessories from automobiles took a new twist here. Naval Lt. M. L. Mooney reported someone stole his dome light.

Romance Language

TOKYO — Kyodo News Agency reports the private detective business has doubled. As usual, a lot of the clients want to check up on spouses, or possible future spouses. One youth asked a check on his fiancée's background to see if she had been running around with U.S. soldiers. He thought she spoke English too well.

U.S. and the U.N.

The United States is still providing the largest combat manpower contributions to the United Nations Korean war effort, although South Korea has more men in uniform than all other United Nations participants combined. While the exact strength is not known, an estimate 400,000 South Koreans are in uniform while about 200,000 Americans are fighting or directly engaged in support of the fighting.

Oil Wells

The nation's oil industry sank 46,000 new wells in 1962, according to an industry report. A deep exploration well costs an average of $1,000,000, although there is only a 1 in 16 chance it will find even a small oil reservoir. Chances of finding a medium field of oil capable of supplying the nation for a week, are only 1 in 350.

GI Survival Odds

After a tour of Korea, Japan and Okinawa, Maj.-Gen. George E. Armstrong, the Army's top surgeon, declared that soldiers in Korea "have a better chance of not being wounded — or of living if wounded" than fighters in any other comparable conflict. New treatments for the wounded are being used and the new armored vest protects the fighting man.

Foreign Aid

The amount of foreign aid the House will approve will depend on the report of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen on Europe's efforts at self-help, according to Robert D. Chipfield, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives.

Angry Burglars

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — After battering open a safe in a factory office, only to find it empty, angry burglars blew their tops. They left a note, reading, "Why didn't you leave some money in this thing?" In revenge, they set fire to some sawdust in the boiler room. Firemen found the note on top of the safe.

Poor Man Strikes Riches

Albuquerque, N. M. — Charlie Steen, 33-year-old geologist, who found a $1,000,000 vein of uranium in southeastern Utah last July, admits he owed $200 for groceries the day he struck it rich. Steen says that while they haven't even touched the top-grade supply yet, they are shipping out from 30 to 40 tons of ore a day, valued at about $800 a ton.

$2,300,000 Earmarked For Alberta Projects

OTTAWA — The federal government plans to spend on Alberta public works projects in the coming fiscal year twice the amount it spent this year.

The government intends to spend $2,300,000 in Alberta and everything from a $1,000,000 public building in Edmonton to $16,000 for wharf improvements at Ma-Me-O Beach at Pigeon Lake.

In 1952-53 government plans called for outlays in Alberta of $1,161,000 of which none went to Calgary.

This fiscal year it plans to spend in Calgary some $150,000 on "accommodation for government services."

Edmonton got the largest slice. There is the public building and a second vote of $150,000 for addition and alterations to the immigration hall.

Edson and Taber were both on the new spending list for $150,000 public buildings.

There is a vote of $125,000 for a public building at Banff.

Athabasca, Blairmore, Camrose, Carway, Chief Mountain and Lethbridge are all earmarked for $100,000 each in the new spending plan. They are for either public buildings or customs and immigration buildings.

Fort Saskatchewan, Stettler and Wetaskiwin are also slated to get funds. Each is down for $75,000 for public buildings.

Morinville News Briefs

Last week seems to have been a big week for births. Mrs. Philippe Gibeau gave birth to a girl, the first in the family. Mrs. Stella Myers gave birth to a boy, also the first in the family. Mrs. Rolande McIntosh, formerly of Morinville and now residing at Edmonton, gave birth to a boy, a brother for Gordon and Bonnie. Mrs. Rochelle Linden, formerly of Morinville and now residing at Minneapolis, Minn., gave birth to a boy, a brother for June and Patty.

Miss Cecile Houle was rushed to hospital by ambulance February 13. Her condition is said to be improved.

Norman Weiss is a patient at the University hospital.

Mrs. Bertha Leduc (nee Bernier), mother of two, passed away at an Edmonton hospital last week.

Couples' Council Clinic Arranged

EDMONTON — The Two-By-Two Married Couples Club of Metropolitan United Church is sponsoring a counselling clinic for parents, on four successive Wednesdays, Feb. 11 to March 4 inclusive, at 8:30 in the evening at Metropolitan Church.

Opening speaker on February 11 will be Dr. Donald Nysten, director, department of guidance services, Seattle public schools, speaking on "What About Child Discipline."

Former Gibbons Girl To Study at Baltimore

GIBBONS — An item in a Vancouver paper announces the following: "Graduate of Vancouver General Hospital Class of '52, Miss Irene Lamoureux, has left for John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland, where she will continue studies in post-graduate surgical technique." Irene is a former pupil of our St. Eugene School. Her classmates will no doubt be proud of her success in her chosen profession.

Six warships of the Royal Canadian Navy were assigned during the summer of 1952 to training University Naval Division Cadets, with three cruises to Europe and three to West Coast ports from Alaska to southern California.

YOUNG LIBERALS TO HOLD CONVENTION

Plans are underway for the annual meeting of the Alberta Young Liberal Association to be held in Red Deer on March 7th. This is the first occasion when the convention has been held separately from that of the senior organization, and Young Liberal officers feel that they have now progressed to the point where this will be a beneficial change.

Further announcements will be made later regarding agenda, etc., but R. E. G. Armstrong, Parkland, president of the Association, is hopeful that delegates will come from every constituency in the province.

Following is a list of officers of the Alberta Young Liberal Association, and Committee Members in charge of arrangements for the Annual Convention:

President, R. E. G. Armstrong, Parkland.

1st Vice-Pres., Frank Ender-ton, Edmonton.

2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Mel Shannon, Calgary.

Secretary, Mrs. R. E. G. Armstrong, Parkland.

Publicity Secretary, Una MacLean, Calgary.

Convention Organization Committee: Chairman Mel Shannon, Calgary. Members, Frank Murphy, Red Deer; Douglas Robertson, Calgary.

Delegate and Credentials Committee: Chairman, John Boras, Calgary. Members, Mrs. Con Loree, Nanton; Gordon Gregson, Cardston; Tevis Miller, Edmonton; Bob Campbell, Edmonton; Jack Stachura, Banff.

Resolutions Committee: Chairman, C. Douglas Robertson.

Constitution Committee: Chairman, Bill Eghert.

Nominations Committee: Chairman, J. Judd Buchanan, Edmonton. Member, Mrs. Mel Shannon, Calgary.

Finance Committee: Chairman, Don Kennedy. Members: Art Cassidy, Ernie McCullough.

The operations of life insurance companies operating in Canada are strictly supervised and regulated by the federal department of insurance and the department of insurance of all ten provinces.

Stannard Bros. Win Butterfat Award

SALISBURY — For the second consecutive year, Stannard Bros. of R.R.2, South Edmonton, have won the Silver Trophy for producing the highest butter fat average in Alberta.

Mr. A. J. Stannard accepted the trophy at the stag banquet held in the Palliser Hotel in Calgary where the Dairymen's Convention was held last week.

Last year they also won the award for the best Herd Improvement. Mr. O. Arps of Salisbury placed eighth in this group this year.

These trophies are kept for one year and returned and the winners receive a small replica which they keep.
